Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Thursday 08 Apr 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
The north cold and windy with showers. Cloudier in south.

This Evening and Tonight:
A band of rain continuing to sink south to reach The Wash to Cardigan Bay by morning. Much colder conditions following with sleet and snow showers. Less cold but rather cloudy further south. Severe gales in the far NE.

Friday:
Band of rain and showers edging into southern England. Cold with sunshine elsewhere but wintry showers affecting Scotland and coastal areas exposed to the northerly flow. Windy in the NE.

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Cloudy with the rain in the far south Saturday, sunny spells and wintry showers elsewhere. More settled Sunday, with showers for the north Monday. Generally cold. Night frosts.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.